I am a 22 year old Developer. I live and study in Denmark. If not hanging out with friends I usually spend time watching movies, browsing the internet or just coding and learning new things. I am easy-going and a relaxed person. These traits let me communicate easily and fluently with other people. I prefer working alone, but team work is never a struggle, as I prioritize other peoples opinions.

My adapted efficient and methodical way of working benefits working in teams or on personal projects. I strive to maintain a disciplined working environment and help anybody in need throwing in a few jokes in the whole process. Advancing as a Developer is my main goal and therefore I often converse and learn from other like-minded people. Of course with a cup of coffee in hand.
